JACK PEACH

Born in 1913 in Calgary Jack was first introduced to a radio audience at the age of 12 having sold his first piece of writing at the age of 9.

He has been associated with radio and television all his adult life to date making him the senior active broadcaster in Canada in terms of longevity of service.

Jac has been Announcer, Editor, Producer, War Correspondent, Program Director, Weatherman, Public Relations Director and Program Host in Canada. His broadcasting work abroad has been heard throughout the United States, Britain and in many parts of the English speaking world.

During his years in the communications profession Jack has worked for Trade Associations, has been a Weekly News Magazine Editor, Film Maker and Commentator and Actor.

In recent times Jack has taught various phases of the Communications Arts at the University of Calgary and Sait as well as to groups of Industry Executives.

Jack Peach has written three books on his growing-up years in Calgary, humorous and touching accounts under the titles "Peach Preserves", "Peach Cordial" and "Peach Melba". He was commissioned to adapt one book as a play which was performed by Alberta Theatre projects at over 80 performances.

Jack claims he has retired twice but is still very active in the fields of writing (a weekly half page in the Calgary Herald) acting (in films, TV and radio) and teaching (in the U of C Faculty of Continuing Education).

Recently acclaimed by "Calgary Magazine" as "Mister Calgary" Jack Peach says his present occupations keep him adequately free of deterioration and stagnation in a still-exciting and challenging life in communications.

THE GREAT CPR EXPOSITION

The Great CPR Exposition, opening at the Glenbow Museum August 11, is highlighted by the commemorative poster shown on the cover. The poster was designed by Calgary artist Dennis Budgen and was the unanimous choice of a jury of Glenbow staff members working on the exhibition. Mr. Budgen's design features the first locomotive to arrive in Calgary, number 147.

The exposition, which commemorates the 100th anniversary of the arrival of the CPR in Calgary, will use art, artifacts, large-scale models, photographs and original documents to portray the impact of the railway on Western Canada.

Complementing the exposition will be The CPR West Conference, to be held at the Glenbow from September 21 to 25. Distinguished speakers from across Canada will focus on various aspects of the CPR's role in the development of the West.

The Great CPR Exposition will run until May 13, 1984.
